COMING THIS SUMMER

A little boy, his mom, and his grandmother were praying beside his bed one night in preparation for his bedtime. The time was quickly coming for his birthday, and he was soaking up this time with his grandmother. The grandmother was soaking every minute up as well. She had dreamed of this time here with her grandson—praying together, getting to hear him pray. What a special moment they were sharing together. The grandmother finished praying, and it was her grandson's turn to pray. He was doing so well; she was so proud of him. They were on the other side of the bed from one another, so for the most part, she couldn't make out what he was saying. But it was so sweet she was enjoying just being present.

Then, as her grandson began to pray louder and with greater annunciation, she could hear exactly what he was saying...“and I would like a blue bike with white lightning bolts, in Jesus' name, amen.”

As they got up from their knees the mom pulled her son aside and said, “Why did you pray so loudly and clearly for that bike for your birthday?”

“Everyone knows that grandmother can't hear that well and I wanted to make sure she knew exactly what I wanted for my birthday,” said the little boy.

Praying is such an easy thing to speak of and assent to. Yet when we pray, do we look more for others to fulfill what we speak to God about, or are we truly asking Him? Do we really trust Him to accomplish what we bring before Him, or do we just verbally assent that we trust

Him with it and then go about doing our best to accomplish the work ourselves?!

God has called us to join Him in work, but He has not invited us to jump in front of or create the work; He has invited us to join Him in His work.

I have been so thankful for the ability to pray for Loveland, CO, for Walnut Street, for God's work in all of your lives, in my life, and my family's life. Going before the Lord is such a blessing! We have a heavenly Father who is intimately aware and involved in our lives. He is jealous for His Spirit He made to dwell within us, and He communes with that Spirit in us when we submit our lives, our hopes, and our dreams before Him through prayer.

I want to invite you to pray with us five things for Walnut Street, River Church (Loveland, CO), and every other Bible-believing, Jesus-preaching, and gospel-sharing church:

That God would:

1. Send us the lost
2. Send us guests
3. Get them connected into the life of His Church
4. Do His work in the lives of His people
5. Show every person what their role is inside and outside the walls of His Church

Prayer—that is the way forward. Prayer is the only way to see God's Kingdom advanced in His way, for His Name's sake!

*We love y'all!

sharing the 3 circles

Let's learn to tell others about the gospel in a fun, creative way!
To follow along, you can use Wikki Stix, pipe cleaners, dry erase markers and a marker board, a pencil and paper, or anything you have on hand.

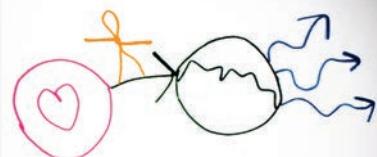

1. God's Design

Draw a heart inside a circle.
 God created a perfect world including you, me, and everything in it. We were created so that we can walk with God daily and worship Him. He loves us, and we can love Him!

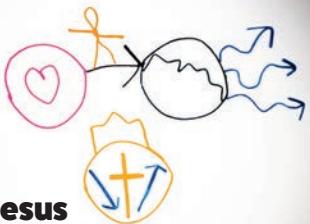

2. Sin

Draw a stick person on top of a curved arrow.
 Because Adam & Eve sinned in the Garden of Eden, we also sin and move away from God's design. That sin separates us from Him. Sin is anything we think, do, or say that disobeys God. Every person sins no matter if they're young or old.

3. Brokenness

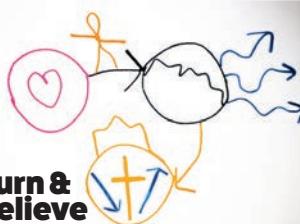

Draw a zig-zag line inside a circle.
 Being separated from God makes us broken.
Draw three curvy arrows from the side of your circle.
 We try to make things better with things like friendships, sports, or good grades in school. But then we find that running toward those things doesn't really help. They just keep us feeling broken.

4. Jesus

Draw a crown on top of a circle.
 Even though we sin, God still loves us and made a way for us to spend forever with Him in heaven. God sent his son, Jesus, to live on the earth without sin so that Jesus would be perfect and die in our place. Jesus died on the cross, but He didn't stay dead! Three days later, He rose from the dead and is alive again!

Draw a cross in the middle of the circle. To the left draw an arrow down and on the right draw an arrow up.

5. Turn & Believe

Draw a curved arrow from Brokenness to Jesus.
 The Bible tells us that if we Turn (write this word by the arrow) from our sin and brokenness and Believe (write these words, too) that Jesus is God's son, he came and died on the cross for us, and is alive again to give us new life then we are followers of Jesus and He is our King!

6. Restored

Draw one final curved arrow between Jesus and God's Plan.
 BUT WAIT - THERE'S MORE!! After we decide to follow Jesus, we can let go of that brokenness and be Restored (write this word) to God's design for our lives. We can also Grow (write this word, too) in our friendship with Him. Just hearing about Jesus and knowing about God isn't enough. We have to make a choice! We have to admit that we sin and need to be rescued, and make the decision that we will follow Jesus and no one else. All because of Jesus we can make it back to God's design!

Egg Hunt

Sunday, April 10
5:00 pm on the front lawn

We looking forward to our annual Easter egg hunt! Invite as many neighbors and friends as you can to join us. You can pick up Easter egg invites at either Welcome Desk or the Kid's Welcome Center starting at the end of March. We are looking forward to a great time of community and fellowship as we focus on the true meaning of the Easter season in a kid-friendly way!

Looking Forward MINISTRY

Grey Falanga

Jim Henry, long-time pastor at FBC Orlando, says, "The only person who likes change is a baby, yet it is the most certain thing for all of us." Jim is so right, I don't even like changing shoes when the ones I've had for a year seem like they're just getting broken in good. Serving in ministry is the same way, just as Jim Henry has gone from being a pastor to now being a speaker and encourager for other pastors. Jim has shown the epitome of right change in the kingdom of God. The Kingdom of God has no "sideline", there are only players in the Kingdom of God and those positions change for us as God, our captain and our Lord, changes our positions for the best for His Kingdom. With God we can look forward to change.

The Looking Forward Ministry is for those who know a change is coming. Maybe kids are out of the house now, retirement in your work life is on the horizon, or you've been retired for 20+ years. God has a work for you and a way for you to join Him in ministry. The Looking Forward Ministry is here to help connect us at every stage of life to where God wants us to join Him. Even if that is in a way we would never have thought of or done before! No matter what stage you find yourself in, you are an image-bearer of God, created in Christ Jesus to do the good works which He prepared beforehand that you would simply walk in them!

Join us as we join God at work!

Looking Forward CONFERENCE

Join the Looking Forward ministry for a conference focused on looking forward to the next stage of life! CONFERENCE GUEST Biographies

Keynote Speaker
JIM FUTRAL

Dr. Jim Futral retired in October 2019, after 21 years as the Executive Director of the Mississippi Baptist Convention Board. Prior to his time as the director of MBCB, he served on the Executive Committee of the Southern Baptist Convention, Executive Committee of the Metro Baptist Association, chaired the Executive Committee of MBCB, and pastored 9 different churches across Mississippi and Texas over 35 years. He holds master of divinity and doctor of ministry degrees from New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, an undergraduate degree from Mississippi's Blue Mountain College, and an associate degree from the former Clarke College in Newton, Miss.

Musical Guest
BENJI HARLAN

Dr. Benjamin Harlan, a composer, conductor, educator, and pianist, holds Bachelor of Music and Master of Music degrees from Baylor University and the D.M.A. degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas. His career includes vocational church music ministry and positions on seminary faculties in Fort Worth, Texas and New Orleans, Louisiana. His interest in writing stems from his work as a practicing church musician, having served over a dozen congregations. Benji is a frequent clinician and has a special interest in congregational singing. A few of his top-selling arrangements include "It Is Well with My Soul", "Great Is Thy Faithfulness", "We're Marching to Zion", "Lord, When We Praise You with Glorious Music", "I Will Sing the Wonderous Story" and many more.

REMEMBER TO PRAY FOR RIVERChurch in Loveland, Colorado

We have partnered with River Church, a church plant in Loveland, Colorado, in prayer as they follow God's lead in sharing the gospel with this city. Many in the Denver and Northern Colorado areas consider Colorado a "Pre-Christian" state...meaning the Gospel has never had a strong presence in the state. This is changing, and we praise God for it. River Church's desire is to plant a multiplying church in partnership with Colorado Baptists, NAMB, and the SBC to see a culture changed by the Gospel.

Remember to continue to pray for the Elliffs, the Smiths, the Wheats, the Sowerbutts, and others who will soon be joining this core team!

FROM JOSH ELLIFF
Lead Pastor of River Church

"Pray for connections in our community with neighbors and with ways to serve. Specifically praying for opportunities to serve Railway Flats Apartments and Riverview School as well as Centerra. Continue praying for next steps and the core team as God builds it."

MISSIONS Spotlight

BE A FRIEND FOR LIFE

We have some exciting news regarding the former Arise2Read program! We have been given the green light to start volunteering again at MicroSociety school!

Kenda Hackney has agreed to resume as our new Chair. She has been hard at work corresponding and meeting with the administration at MicroSociety school, as well as working on a new curriculum and programming that we will now be following. Our ministry is being renamed Friend for LIFE. The inspiration for our new name comes from John 15:13 – “Greater love has no one than this; to lay down one’s life for one’s friends.”

The LIFE acronym stands for:

L – LEARNING and increasing literacy and knowledge.

I – INVESTING your time and care.

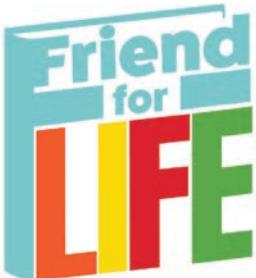

F – FAITHFULNESS to the Lord’s call and commitment to these children in need.

E – ENCOURAGEMENT with the love of Christ and the hope of succeeding.

The new program will open up a wide array of new opportunities for service to first and second graders. These include lunch buddies, partnering to read, or tutoring.

The last two years have been challenging in many ways, particularly on the school systems. MicroSociety school conducted midterm testing for their first and second graders. Results showed 84% of first graders and 79% of second graders were below grade level. That’s 4 out of 5 students at a deficit. Obviously, they are in desperate need of any help that we can offer. Please consider giving at least 30 minutes-1 hour of your week to serve these children in need right here in our community, reflecting the hands and feet of Jesus.

For questions, please contact our Friends for LIFE team – Kenda Hackney, Michelle Reid, Marci Stracener, and Carol Cone – at 870-930-8018.

Be a friend to a student at MicroSociety!

4 Kinds of Friends

Fluency Friend

Tutor/mentor students using sight word list (30 minutes to an hour a week). New volunteers are required to attend a 30 minute training session. You will use books and materials provided. There are 6 available time slots before, during, or after school.

Reading Friend

Sit and read with a student one on one (30 minutes to an hour a week) – use books provided by the classroom teacher

Lunch Friend

Go once a week to have lunch with a student and form relationships. Lunch time options are in 20 minute intervals between 10:20 am and 12:45 pm.

Prayer Friend

Commit to praying for this school (students and staff) daily.

We plan to begin ASAP so let us know if you can participate at 870-930-8018!

Grace

IT'S SIMPLE MATH

BY DR. TIM KIMMEL

GRACE IS HARD WORK

And most of the time it doesn't add up. I think this is why so many people reject it as the default mode of their lives. God actually expects us to:

- Be kind to people who aren't always kind in return.
- Forgive people who don't deserve to be forgiven.
- Be generous to people who don't necessarily appreciate our openhandedness.
- Surrender our personal agendas on behalf of the best interests of the people closest to us—even if they aren't inclined to do the same for us.
- Be humble even though it makes it easier for the pushy and arrogant people around us to sometimes get credit for our efforts.

In the early years of my spiritual journey, God's grace was just an abstract concept. I had no idea what it was supposed to look like in the interactions with the people closest to me. The only concrete grasp I had of God's grace was the role it played in the salvation of sinners—the lost/found, blind/see role. But grace kept pestering me. And then an epiphany day came when the "what" and the "how" of God's applied grace became crystal clear. It's the day God answered my search for answers to real-time grace by distilling it down to a single sentence in my brain: "A grace-based relationship is simply treating the people you love the way God treats you."

Up to that point I thought I had good reason to be impatient and reactive to my wife or kids when they did something annoying. I thought I was justified in balancing a chip on my shoulder and evening up the score when they gave me reason to. But then the question would come, “Is that how God deals with me when I do things that annoy Him or otherwise do Him wrong?” The more I wrapped my head and heart around that single definition of God’s applied grace—“treat others the way God treats you”—the more I knew that obedience demanded that I let the flavor and texture of HIS gracious heart redefine my heart.

The only problem was that I wasn’t inclined in my selfishness and spiritual laziness to do that. I knew it would require a lot of effort on my part. I’d have to stop doing certain things I preferred doing and start doing other things that I’d always struggled to do. It became obvious that there’s no way I (or you, or anyone else) could do this without consistently maintaining an intimate heart-connection with Jesus. He’s got to be the power source of our gracious heart—otherwise, we’re just conjuring up some homemade “nice”. Nice and grace aren’t synonyms.

Maintaining heart-connection meant I’d need to give more than lip service to the role of the Bible in my life. I’d need to read it, study it, and meditate on it on a regular (i.e., daily) basis. The other three commitments I’d have to make were to prayer, worship, and service ... substantive, passionate, and sacrificial. No way around it.

I realize I could easily be accused of distilling God’s grace down to a checklist. I realize that checklists are knockoffs for legalism. And I also realize that there are lots of Christians reading their Bibles, praying, worshiping, and serving others on a regular basis who aren't even in the area code of a grace-led life. But those accusations come at you any time you try to put some kind of form or function to a lived-out faith. All I know is that a relationship assumes certain choices and commitments. You can do them for right reasons or wrong ones, but it's hard to maintain a relationship without them.

Which brings me back to treating others the way God treats me. If I was going to live a life where I consistently agreed to set aside my ego needs, own my mess, keep the accent of my life on others, and grant a lot of forgiveness—I knew it couldn't be done in my own power. These things only happen when Jesus is sitting in the driver's seat. And that only happens with a consistent relationship with Him maintained through time in His Word, time on our knees, time in deep worship, and enthusiastic service to others. Hard.

It took me quite a while to get to where I was willing to pay the price tag that came with operating in the power of God's grace. And, like getting up while it's still dark and going to the gym or saying "No thanks" to dessert, it's always a challenge. But there's one thought I'd like to leave you with that might make you consider wanting to sign up for the work required to enjoy ongoing grace-filled relationships. It's less work—in the long run—than what you have waiting for you if you don't.

It's simple math. Although the self-absorbed life looks easier in the moment, when you run it out over a lifetime, it's immensely more work than treating others graciously. Living lives that cater to our ego needs and accommodate our selfish wants creates ENORMOUS TOIL for our emotions and puts MASSIVE STRESS on our most valuable relationships.

Disappointment, distrust, discouragement, defensiveness, and interpersonal debt—to some degree or the other—are the ghosts that haunt relationships when our selfish best-interests own the high ground.

That's why, when we do the math, we all save ourselves so much effort when we do the disciplined work that goes with maintaining a heart-connection with God through His Word, prayer, worship, and service. And in the meantime, we get to enjoy the up-side of it all – hearts filled with His grace and relationships that flourish because of it.

Dr. Tim Kimmel is the founder and Executive Director of Grace Based Families. Tim develops resources and conducts conferences across the country on the unique pressures that confront today's families. Tim has authored many books including Grace Based Parenting and Grace Filled Marriage. Tim and Darcy count their role as parents and grandparents as one of their greatest joys. God has blessed them with four children, their spouses, and a growing flock of grandkids.
